Letter from President Miller

As President of Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, I am proud to welcome you to our 2023 Piano Celebration Week where we have a long-standing history of contributing to the cultural vibrancy of our community. Education in the arts provides a crucial piece of well-roundedness to a student that contributes to enhanced self-expression and self-awareness, improved communication, collaborative abilities, and increased civic engagement.

For the sixth consecutive year, Piano Celebration Week welcomes youth and professional pianists to the Performing Arts Center at the Island University for unique educational experiences and performance opportunities. One of the only festivals of its kind, Piano Celebration Week brings together more than 400 performers for a week of marathon concerts, master classes, and performances by professional musicians. These events are free to attend for all in the Coastal Bend and beyond, and allow young artists the opportunity to perform on a world-class stage, encouraging excellence and fostering creativity and confidence.

Cultivating creative activity and scholarship are important tenets of the Island University's mission, and Piano Celebration Week exemplifies our efforts to support community vibrancy in the Coastal Bend. At A&M-Corpus Christi, we pride ourselves on the exceptional work taking place in our School of Arts, Media, and Communication – from the internationally renowned faculty to the remarkable Islander artists and musicians – both groups working tirelessly to make their Islander Impact on the Coastal Bend, and beyond. Thank you for supporting the work of our faculty, staff, and students through your participation as performers, educators, audience members, and donors. We are so glad to share in the joy of music with you.

The College of Liberal Arts is delighted to help host the 2023 Piano Celebration Week.

We are excited to invite you to attend the sixth year of this festival. Our need for the Arts is essential to the human spirit, allowing us to communicate through artistic expression and compelling us to empathize with others when reflecting on the human experience. So to that end, I would like to thank all of the musicians, technicians, staff, and students who helped make 2022 Piano Celebration Week an extraordinary listening experience.

We are confident you will thoroughly enjoy the 2023 Piano Celebration Week and invite you to bring family and friends to our Performing Arts Center to share the experience. You are sure to find the 33 events featuring 400 performers playing a diverse range of musical styles including—Classical, Broadway, Pop, Latin, Jazz, Disney, Nursery Rhymes, and more—valuable, enlightening, and enjoyable.

Dr. Dino Mulić, Dr. Sangmi Lim and many others have worked together to put on this extraordinary event which benefits those at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, the local community, and students of all ages all around the South Texas region. There are many events during Piano Celebration Week that will be of interest to those who play as well as to those who listen. We will have marathon concerts, a piano duo and guest artist piano recitals, and a Latin-Jazz Night with José-Miguel Yamal and Phase 1. The Texas A&M University-Corpus Department of Music welcomes you to the sixth annual Piano Celebration Week!

We are so glad you are here to join us in celebrating all things piano. With dynamic performances from students and professionals alike, this festival continues to contribute to the musical fabric of our community. I'd especially like to mention our own Dr. Dino Mulić and Dr. Sangmi Lim, who regularly grace our stages with their musicianship and talent. Their dedication to the work that goes into a festival like this is very much appreciated.

I'd also like to mention the excitement surrounding the design of our new music and theater building. As we enter the design phase of this project, we are already working on fundraising for new pianos for the building including two fantastic new concert grands for our new recital hall. If you are interested in helping with this project which will provide the very best of piano sound to our community, please feel free to reach out to me directly.

Piano Celebration Week remains a cultural mainstay of the Coastal Bend, and the Department of Music at TAMU-CC hosts a plethora of musical events on and off our campus. We offer dozens of free concerts every year and I extend an open invitation to you to join us. If you visit music.tamucc.edu you will find a link to our activities calendar. Please look around the website, learn more about us, and take part in all we have to offer!

Welcome to all of the performers participating this week, and to all of you here to enjoy the music-making. Again, a special shout out to our youngest performers, their families, and teachers. We are delighted to share our stage and the gift of music with you!

Letter from Director Moore

Welcome to the Texas A&M-Corpus Christi Performing Arts Center (PAC). Along with the other sponsors of Piano Celebration Week, we are proud to host this remarkable event and are pleased you are enjoying wonderful music making over a period of several days.

The PAC always looks forward to Piano Celebration week as we get to see so many new people – and returning friends - who are clearly excited about what's going to happen on stage. Whether you're a performer, parent, curious audience member, student, friend or other family member, we see on everyone's faces how much this opportunity to perform as part of Piano Celebration Week at the PAC means.

As Chair of the Corpus Christi Arts and Cultural Commission (ACC), we recognize the significance of this event and continue to support it with city arts grants funds. We know that not only will you see tremendous performances and classes, but you'll understand how much the region needs events like Piano Celebration Week to add cultural vitality to the region. Events like this contribute to the educational, social, emotional and economic health of our city.

In addition to supporting Piano Celebration Week, the ACC supports numerous other activities that take place at the PAC, including the Furgason BRAVO! Series and the Festival de Mariachi en la Isla. This year alone, the BRAVO! Series included such wide-ranging performances as the spiritual group Michelle Mayne-Graves' Lifeline Quartet to the documentary, Deep in the Heart: A Texas Wildlife Story. The Mariachi Festival this year is April 14-15, with performances by area school mariachi groups as well as professional ensembles.

The PAC is much more than just a building. It's a place where we celebrate our community, making new friends, and contributing in positive ways to the cultural, educational, and social fabric of the University and Corpus Christi. We hope that in the coming months, you continue to return to the concert hall and other venues throughout the city, with new-found inspiration and community. In the meantime, please enjoy these Piano Celebration Week performances and classes and join me in celebrating the talent found in the Coastal Bend.

We also acknowledge and congratulate the many artists, presenters, students, piano lovers and music enthusiasts that will be sharing their gifts throughout the week.

We believe in the universal voice of music that speaks to our shared humanity, connects people worldwide, inspires creativity and enriches life. This is our commonality of purpose as musicians, music educators and music retailers. And Piano Celebration Week is a beautiful example of all that can be accomplished as we embrace this commonality of purpose.

We invite you to connect with our Piano Gallery family. Everything we do is inspired by our love and passion for music and our devotion to foster music education, music participation and music appreciation. Each year at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, Piano Celebration Week provides opportunities for pianists of all ages and abilities to join us in celebrating piano music and artistry. In addition to experiencing performances given by world class pianists and the opportunity to participate in educational master classes, Piano Celebration Week serves a cultural need in the Coastal Bend by offering pianists at every level the unique and confidence-building experience of performing on stage in the Performing Arts Center at TAMU-CC. Additionally, this festival positions Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi and the City of Corpus Christi as a destination for musicians seeking to study at the University level by showcasing not only the beauty of our campus and the city, but also the dedication of our faculty and students to sharing the benefits of music education with the community.

Piano Celebration Week is made possible through community support and modest registration fees for participants. All concerts are free and open to public audiences. Support from the TAMU-CC Department of Music, Corpus Christi Music Teachers Association, the City of Corpus Christi's City Arts Grant program, Yamaha Corporation, the Piano Gallery, and other generous donors support artist fees and lodging, promotional materials, audio and video production costs, and other expenses necessary to providing a rich, cultural experience for student participants and guests alike. Donors will be recognized in the event program booklet.
